

STATE SOLONS OPEN SESSION NEXT MONDAY

Efficient to balance the budget, and new taxes will probably be necessary. Just what form they will take has not been decided, although the administration is studying sales, income and other taxes.

Unemployment relief, proposed in several measures, is expected to provoke a lively dispute. Senator Roy Feltom of San Francisco has proposed a $20,000,000 federal loan with which to back up state, county and city charity funds. Another proposal is to borrow $750,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to increase the unemployment labor camp program.

Liquor laws must also be adjusted in conformity with expected federal legislation on prohibition. Adoption by the voters of a measure providing for state supervision of liquor sales in case light wines and beer are legalized calls for enabling acts by the legislature.

A definite program of regulation is being worked out by Assemblyman William B. Hornblower of San Francisco, to include the following: Liquor to be sold only in packages at state-licensed stores; serving on premises, with the exception of homes, to be confined to hotels and restaurants; and creation of position of county liquor supervisor in each county.

BOY TREATED FOR GUNSHOT WOUND

Arthur Iseman, 15, Costa Mesa youth, is in the Orange County hospital, suffering from a gunshot wound in the left leg, received in an accidental manner yesterday while he and several boys, armed with Christmas rifles, were merrily shooting on the Newport bay.

A gun carried by Perle Temple, 15, also of Costa Mesa, was accidentally fired, the hospital reported, the .22 caliber bullet striking young Iseman below the knee in the left leg.

No police report was made of the incident.

Fish Peddler Is Held As U. S. Alien

Arnold Benmargh, 39, native of Austria, who recently has been in the business of peddling fish at Newport Beach, was lodged in the county jail last night. Immigration officers made the arrest and are looking into the legality of his entry into the United States, it was said.

Irrigation Costs Take Drop

Because of the river water now available, a new water rate went into effect this morning at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company at Orange. The new rate is 40 cents per one hundred inches instead of one dollar.

Silverware, Radio, Bedding and Rifle Taken by Burglars

Two burglaries, which took place several days ago but which were not discovered until yesterday were today reported to the sheriff's office.

Thieves entered the unoccupied home of E. F. Underhill, at Donkey Park, Palmdale some time during the past several days and ransacked the entire building. Sheets, pillows, blankets, china and silverware were reported stolen, worth in all several hundreds of dollars. Entrance was made by breaking out a window.

The home of W. A. Dennis, on Magnolia avenue, near Anaheim, was broken into several days ago while members of the family were away from home and a rifle and a radio receiving set stolen, it was reported. The burglary was not discovered until last night when the family returned. Entrance was made after forcing the back door.

TWO MEN HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGES

One man was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and another on a drunk charge after a car driven by the former almost collided with the car of California Highway Patrol Officer Lloyd Groover and his family, near Seal Beach last night.

Clifford E. Hicks, of Long Beach, was driving the car, the officer reported and the other man was Roy N. Thendler, also of Long Beach. Groover, in street clothes, off duty, took the pair to the Huntington Beach jail. They will be brought here for a hearing this afternoon.

The car Hicks was said to have been driving ran up behind another car on the highway traveling in the same direction and struck it, knocking it off the road. The Hicks car then careened to the left side of the road where it almost hit the Groover machine. No one was hurt.

SEPARATION IS SOUGHT AFTER SIX DECADES

Alleging that her husband treated her cruelly and was unreasonable in his demands upon her after 62 years of married life, Mrs. Florinda J. Berger, of Orange, has filed suit for $100 monthly separate maintenance against her husband, George L. Berger. Her complaint sets forth that she is 79 years old and a bedridden invalid and that she and her husband were married November 2, 1870, in Louisville, Neb.

Mrs. Berger alleged in her complaint that for the past 10 years her husband has kept her under domineering and tyrannical supervision and has denied her the ordinary comforts and privileges of a wife.

She charged that he never has permitted her to have a key to their home and has opened, read and withheld her personal mail. Her husband, according to her complaint, not only refused to buy her a radio but threatened to "live in the woodshed" if she purchased one with her own funds.

On November 20, last, she alleges that she requested her husband to employ someone to help with the housework because she was confined to her bed and he told her he "would sooner see her buried."

Other acts of cruelty charged to her husband in the complaint were that he refused to have the interior of the house decorated or repainted in the past 12 years and refused to allow her to leave the work done with her own money; provided only cheap and discarded market produce for food, would not provide adequate fuel for heating the home and when she became ill and a separate bed was prepared for him, he refused to sleep in it. She alleged that her husband tore the bed apart and slept on the floor.

JAMES WETTON DIES IN HIS RANCH HOME

ANAHEIM, Dec. 28.—James Wetton, 82, passed away at his ranch home on North street last night. Time of funeral services will be announced later by the Backs, Terry and Campbell Funeral home.

Born in Manchester, England, Mr. Wetton had resided in the Anaheim district for the past eleven years.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Mary Wetton; and five children, Mrs. E. L. Hackley, Anaheim; S. C. Wetton, Anaheim; W. J. Wetton, and J. H. Wetton, Slater, Calif., and Mrs. H. L. Hackley, Monroe, La. Nine grandchildren also survive.

Judgment In Girl's Case Postponed

Pronouncement of judgement in the case of pretty Helen C. Karleskint, 19-year-old girl arrested here Christmas day on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was continued this morning by Judge John Landell, in the city police court until January 3.

The girl was found guilty of the charge yesterday and the date for pronouncement of judgement was set for today. The delay was caused for the purpose of allowing her to obtain money for a fine, it was said.

DUTIES ON BOARD NEAR END

Charles Chapman, left, Santa Ana lumber dealer, supervisor from the first district, and William Schumacher, right, Anaheim rancher, supervisor from the third district, are nearing the close of their terms of office. The board meeting yesterday was the last regular meeting in which they will transact county business, as their successors will be installed at the meeting next Tuesday. Chapman ends a term of four years, not running for office at the last election, and Schumacher, who was defeated at the last election, steps down after 20 years service on the board.

TWO MEN TODAY CLAIM TO BE GOVERNOR OF WYOMING

The certificate stated he was elected to serve the final two years of the unexpired term of the late Gov. Frank C. Emerson, who died during the session of the legislature in 1931.

Clark was secretary of state at the time of Emerson's death and succeeded to the governorship pending election of a man to fill out Emerson's term. While serving as chief executive, Clark retained the position of secretary of state to which he was elected.

Miller defeated Clark in the general election in November.

Whether Miller's oath of office, after he was sworn in by Chief Justice Ralph S. Kimball of the state supreme court, was properly filed in the office of the secretary of state was in dispute today.

Supporters of Clark denied it had been filed as required by law. Miller and his secretary made emphatic denial. They said they personally witnessed its formal receipt at the office.

general manufacturers' sales tax would impose too heavy a burden upon the consumers.

The governor conferred late last night with Prof. Raymond I. Moley, his chief economic adviser, on what were believed to be phases of the budget situation and his recent exchange of views with Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference.

Leaders still were searching for other possible sources of new revenue, but were unable to present any concrete plans.

Majority Leader Rainey admitted that he saw little prospect of a general revenue revision.

"I think a continuation of the gasoline excise tax and beer taxes are about the best we can do," he said.

Meanwhile, Collier postponed his "budget balancing" session of the ways and means committee until Wednesday, January 4.

He said there was "no special significance" in the delayed meetings.

FOR FUTURE ANGLERS
The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries produced more than 100,000,000 same fish, in addition to more than a billion other fish of the pan variety, during the past year.

The newly discovered bodies were found as were others in the south passage still in the trip cars in which the men were riding to work. The sudden rush of gas and flame caught them before they could move to possible safety.

Progress of the rescuers was slow. They were forced to use oxygen tanks as gas fumes were encountered from time to time. They hoped to reach the spot where the last miners were believed trapped today.

While the hunt went on 625 feet below the surface of the ground, funerals of other victims were being held.

A drive for funds to provide for families of the miners who lost their lives was underway. The disaster widowed 33 women in this small town. Twenty of these are mothers with a total of 75 children. Ten men left dependent mothers and children of two victims became orphans.

her action in the case at present, as the litigation was not a party to the trial, and that no further efforts for Insull's extradition were in prospect immediately. This decision was based on the appeal court's decision that Insull was guilty of no material penal acts under Greek law.

Insull's wife cabled from Paris, expressing her delight at his release and telling him she felt 20 years younger. She expected to join him in Greece within 10 days. Hundreds of congratulatory cablegrams arrived for Insull from the United States, Europe and elsewhere. Charles Bellows and Andrew Vlachos of the Chicago state attorney's office told the United Press they would start home within five days without awaiting further instructions.

ARRAIGN MAN FOR BURGLARY, ESCAPE

John Sandow, of 202 West Washington avenue, charged with three counts of burglary and one escape, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison yesterday afternoon, and his examining trial set for January 5, at 9 a. m. Bail of $5000 was demanded, which Sandow did not make.

The man was arrested for several petty burglaries here a week ago. He escaped from the city police station as officers started to take him to jail after booking him and was recaptured two days later by Santa Ana police in Norwalk where he had taken refuge.

ELECTION CONTESTS FILED WITH HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)

Three apparently defeated Democratic congressional candidates for the next congress today filed notice of election contests with the clerk of the house South Trimble.

They would unseat Rep. Beck, Rep., Pa., leader of the house "wet bloc," Representative-elect Burnham, Rep., of the 20th California district and Rep. Thurston, Rep., of the 20th Iowa district.

Today's notices brought the total of pending election contests in the 73rd congress to six.

Privileges Of Leap Year To End Soon

Bachelor girls who have not yet availed themselves of Leap Year privileges of selecting a future husband and "popping the question" are warned that only a few more days remain in which this prerogative may be exercised.

Next Saturday at midnight Leap Year ends and those single girls who have bashful "boy friends" will be forced to either wait until the "boy friend" secures enough cash, courage or whatever it takes to get a man to propose, or until 1936 when Leap Year again will give them an opportunity to do their own asking.

Call Police And Firemen To Aid Of Cat In Tree

When Mrs. M. Smith, of 2318 Cypress street, called the police department last night to inform them that her cat was up a tree and would not come down, Captain Jess Buckles told her to call the fire department for two reasons. First, the firemen had ladders and second, Buckles said firemen were better climbers than policemen.

The fire department couldn't make the call, however, so Mrs. Smith called back to Buckles. This time Buckles reported he tied a parachute to Officer Harry Prichard and sent him to the scene. The cat had tired in the meantime, however, and had come down from its perch.

MRS. AMELIA GOSLEE SERVICES THURSDAY

Last rites for Mrs. Amelia Goslee, 79, who passed away at her home at 225 West Culver street, Orange, Tuesday, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the C. W. Coffey Funeral home, with the Rev. A. J. Shirley, pastor of Trinity Episcopal church, officiating.

Mrs. Goslee is survived by her husband, George G. Goslee; a son, James Atkinson, and a daughter, Mrs. Morris Jensen, of Orange.

Mrs. Goslee had been a resident of Orange for the past 13 years.

ASK OPINION ON BANK DEPOSITS AND WAR DEBTS

A committee to study and formulate a report on two referendums to be voted on by directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce which were sent out by the United States Chamber of Commerce, was appointed at a meeting of the local board of directors held this morning in the chamber offices in the court house annex.

The referendums are sent out by the national body to secure the opinion of a cross section of citizens of the nation. One of the referendums discussed by the directors this morning was in relation to the movement to secure a closer relationship between the government and banks, with the primary purpose of safeguarding and guaranteeing depositors that they can always get back every dollar they place in a bank. Other legislative matters in connection with the movement were discussed.

The other referendum related to government debts owed to the United States by other nations. The referendum gave arguments on both sides for giving congress power to modify the debts, for accepting goods in lieu of money, for reduction of the debts based on reduction of armaments, for cancellation and for further postponement of payments.

The committee appointed to study the referendums and to make a report to the directors included J. P. Baumgartner, W. C. Jerome, Alex Brownbridge, Frank Was, W. D. Ramsey, B. J. Chandler, Herbert Rankin, A. J. Cruickshank, Hugh Lowe and B. J. MacMullen.

Directors of the chamber discussed the gas tax situation in regard to the fight being waged by cities to obtain a definite allotment of the gasoline tax money paid in to the state from the taxes.

No action was taken or recommendations made.

Herbert Rankin, James Harding and Hugh Lowe were appointed delegates to the Western States Merchants association meeting to be held January 16 in the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles.

Officials of the chamber will attend an executive conference of the Western States Chamber of Commerce which is to be held January 6 in Los Angeles.

LIQUOR CHARGE DISMISSED AS MAN PARDONED

Liquor charges against James Earl Jackson, taken into superior court on appeal from conviction in the Santa Ana, Tex., court, were dismissed this morning by Superior Judge G. K. Sovel because of a pardon granted Jackson by Gov. James Rolph.

As far as can be learned Jackson is the only liquor law violator pardoned by Governor Rolph in his wholesale release of liquor law violators, who had never been in jail and prior to final action on his conviction.

McCauley, 1242 South Van Ness street, Sunday. The services were held in the chapel of the Winthrop First Methodist church, officiating. The remains are to be sent to Monroe, Iowa, for interment.

RUMORS SAY LIBERALS TO BE INCLUDED IN FORMATION OF NEW ADMINISTRATION CABINET

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—If half the advance dope is true, Mr. Roosevelt is going to present us with an interesting cabinet.

The dope flies thick and fast. It is not to be taken too seriously, but the preponderance of prediction indicates a likelihood that the Roosevelt cabinet will contain several members distinguished for their liberalism or lack of orthodoxy. Instead of the stifled yawns which greeted announcement of the Hoover cabinet, the Roosevelt list may create considerable excitement.

Roosevelt has said he wouldn't actually choose anyone before February, so his decisions thus far may be considered tentative. But among recent apparently authoritative revelations bearing on the business of cabinet-making are:

First, your old friend Colonel Edward M. House, who is credited with picking most of Wilson's cabinet, is now actively engaged in helping Roosevelt select one.

Second, the shrewd Roosevelt's policy will provide for appointment of an intimate acquaintance in every department either as the cabinet member or the official second in authority.

Third, Roosevelt believes the Democratic party should be liberal to the extent of steering "left of the center" and selection of the cabinet will be the first official act in which he may demonstrate what he means by that.

Everyone takes it for granted that Democratic Chairman James A. Farley will be postmaster general. Because of its political responsibilities the job is the job for Farley and Farley is the man for the job.

But you don't hear much more about such distinguished gentlemen as Newton D. Baker, Owen D. Young and John W. Davis as possibilities for secretary of state.

Now the rumors run strongest to two Roosevelt friends, Norman H. Davis and Frank L. Polk, who were "little cabinet" members with Roosevelt in the Wilson administration. Davis, a Democrat, has a great wealth of experience in the financial and economic phases of diplomacy and is now Hoover's most important representative in Europe.

Then there's Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, now a favorite for the secretary of the treasury over Barney Baruch and Melvin Traylor. Glass is the outstanding Democratic authority on banking and finance.

Although sound and conservative he breathes fire in many of his attacks on the practices of Wall Street and the stock brokers. Glass is getting along in years and has had the job once, but feels so strongly about the necessity of a "new deal" in that field that he probably could be persuaded to take the job.

The name of Prof. Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard Law School pops up as a likely attorney general, taking precedence over Governor Ritchie of Maryland, who doesn't want the job and perhaps couldn't have it, and Sen. Tom Walsh of Montana, who has four more years in the Senate which he would rather serve.

Frankfurter is a brilliant, thorough-going liberal and was one of the chief defenders of the anarchists Sacco and Vanzetti before their execution. He is Roosevelt's friend. Progressives are pulling for his appointment.

Hardly any appointment could be more revolutionary than that of Frances Perkins, New York state commissioner of labor, as secretary of labor. Not only because Miss Perkins is a woman but also because selection of a person of her experience and progressive viewpoint would be an entirely new departure.

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor are campaigning for Daniel J. Tobin, head of the teamsters' union, whose chief claim to fame is his recent position as head of the Democrats' labor bureau in the recent campaign.

The A. F. of L. supports Tobin on the ground that the secretary must be a trades unionist. Roosevelt is said to favor Miss Perkins because of her excellent New York record under his administrations and Al Smith's.

Roosevelt emissaries have been consulting liberal groups as to their preference for the labor post and Miss Perkins is still regarded as a good bet.

BREAKFASTERS TO HOLD INSTALLATION

A special "old fashioned" initiation ceremony will be used by members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club in installing newly elected officers and directors at the regular weekly meeting which will be held tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock in the Green Cat cafe, it was announced today.

Claude McDowell will be installed as president to succeed David G. Wettlin, retiring president.

Those in charge of the program include Barney Koster, Bruce Switzer, Guy Gilbert, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, Jack Cope, Eugene Kahen, C. F. Skirven and B. Z. McKinney.

The Rev. Owings, McKinney and Skirven will have charge of the "oratorical" part of the program while the remainder of the committee in charge will handle the electrical and mechanical stunts. A special musical program has also been arranged for the installation meeting.

Editor, Santa Ana Register.

Dear Sir:

I am intensely interested in Technocracy, and I am indeed glad that you are publishing articles on this latest and most interesting and timely subject.

I would not be surprised to see something extraordinary make its appearance just now that would exceed our fondest dreams.

For a thousand years men have prayed and dreamed of a Utopia and millennium right here on this earth, and let us hope that those dreams and prayers may be realized in the near future.

Technocracy bids fair to offer us just the civilization that would meet the needs of 95 per cent of civilized mankind on the earth.

In our own country there are those who will bitterly oppose this new scheme of economics, and surely 120 millions of free citizens when properly informed with reference to its superior excellence.

We will eagerly study the findings and the advice of the Technocrats, for in them may be found our political, social and economic salvation.

Then wars would cease and a reign of peace on earth would continue from generation to generation, such as men have never known before.

Truly,

CONDUCT FINAL SERVICES FOR MRS. SEISER

ORANGE, Dec. 28.—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Mary Katherine Seiser, 87, were conducted yesterday afternoon from St. John's Lutheran church, after short rites held at 1:30 o'clock from Gillogly's chapel. The Rev. A. C. Bode officiated at both services.

There was congregational singing, with a favorite song of Mrs. Seiser's, "Gone to the Best Mansion of Rest and Peace—Home," sung in German by members of the Ladies' Aid of St. John's church.

Funeralbearers were Peter Schwab, H. Trumpler, Henry Graber, E. Elsenbraun, Carl Hauserman, of Orange, and John C. Elbinger, of Anaheim. Interment was in St. John's Lutheran cemetery beside the grave of her husband, who passed away several years ago.

Mrs. Seiser passed away Christmas eve in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Peter Goddicksen, 306 North Center street. Death came after a stroke and hypostatic pneumonia.

She is survived by Mrs. Goddicksen and 10 grandchildren, eight great grandchildren, two sisters in Germany, Mrs. Mennie Reller and Mrs. Rosaline Gonsinger, as well as several nieces and nephews in Los Angeles, Oakland and Washington.

Mrs. Seiser had lived in the United States since 1874, coming here from Wuttemberg, Germany. She first settled near Yankton, S. D., coming to Orange to make her home in 1907.

CONDITIONS

President Hoover gets certain private figures from his experts showing how business is going. He put these figures into a compact table in his last message to Congress. It was the first time they were ever published that way.

Expert statisticians say it is the

Month	Industrial Production	Employment	Freight	Car	Load
Dec. 1931	74	69.4	69	31	46
Jan. 1932	72	68.1	64	28	39
July	58	58.3	51	27	32
August	60	58.8	51	26	31
Sept.	66	60.3	54	27	32
October	66	61.1	57	27	32
November	65	61.2	57	24	32

Each month about this time the current figures of the Hoover chart will be carried in this column. They are prepared for you by the same experts who prepare identical figures for the President. The strength of his chart is shown by the figures on factory employment. Great to-do has been made about the increase in unemployment during November. Those figures are available everywhere. This figure balances the published unemployment figures with the normal seasonal variations in November. It shows that despite all you have heard the factory employment situation was one-tenth of one per cent closer to normal in November than it was in October.

The advance inside figures on December indicate we may expect another slight decline generally for that month when final figures are in. Industrial production probably will be off 1 or 2 per cent more. The drop may be most honest business chart yet devised. It eliminates seasonal variations and other statistical faults. It is simple enough for any layman to follow. They call it "The Hoover Chart."

The last month covered by the President was October. The following chart carries the figures on through November on his basis. His October figures have been slightly revised by more complete data.

RECESS
Congressmen slipped out of here like school kids to go home for the holidays.

Speaker Garner tried to protect his men from public criticism. He promised them that nothing would be done of importance after the beer bill. The colored Congressman DePriest ruined the set-up by asking a quorum call. It showed 205 present, not enough. Names of those present were left out of the Congressional Record.

Congressmen are unreasonably touch on the subject of Christmas holidays. They are afraid someone is going to accuse them of shirking their work. Actually a little can be done in Congress as in most businesses during the holiday season.

ANGELS
A lot of inside gossip is going around the Senate about two millionaires contesting for control of the Republican party.

The gossips have Senator Couzens of Michigan willing to play angel for the progressive wing of the party. They would have you believe Senator Ham Keane of New Jersey is willing to finance the conservative element.

It is only good gossip but only that. Couzens will be a powerful man in the future of the party if he wants to be. He has the confidence of both progressives and conservatives. He is not bound to either side. Keane's influence on party reorganization will only be in a quiet way.

FARM PLANS
Henry Morgenthau, Jr., did a splendid inside job lining up the farm organizations for the Roosevelt program. It took two weeks' work but they came completely around in the end. They are talking about him now for Secretary of Agriculture. That may not be bad speculation if you can imagine a New Yorker as Secretary of Agriculture.

BANKS
The banking group in the House is not sold on the Glass bill. They are trying to find ways of reviving the old Goldborough measure guaranteeing bank deposits. Senator Glass buried it in the Senate last session. The Glass Bill will pass the Senate easily in mid-January, but there is plenty of trouble awaiting it in the House. It looks very much as if the guarantee idea may be substituted for most of it there.

NOTES
When a Senator won't speak you know something is wrong. That is the unparalleled situation on war debts. A certain internationally famous Senator said after the Hoover-Roosevelt correspondence: "I had planned to speak today but I think I will delay until after March 4. There is no use talking now." That is the first issue in the history of the world on which the Senate ever was inarticulate. More private confirmation has not committed himself on Russian recognition. That does not alter the general inside expectation that he will recognize Russia as part of his new deal. It would be a striking way to advertise to the public the change in administrations. Nobody goes to see a President who has been defeated. The White House daily calling list has virtually been empty every day for

STRATEGY

High inside sources foresee that the British may spring a surprise when they approach us again on debt revision. The plan would be to refer to the international debts as merely one aspect of an intolerable problem with particular emphasis on the plight of domestic debtors—especially the farmers.

If this show comes off and is staged with proper tact it may have a way of an effect. Congressmen fighting for relief for embattled farmers can hardly be so rude as to refuse to talk things over with an unsuspected ally.

Local authorities are becoming more firmly convinced that we can never emerge from the swamp until the lot of debtors in general is somehow made more bearable. There are people in high places who are talking of a general moratorium on all long term debts.

DEBTS

The interchange of telegrams between Roosevelt and Hoover left Wall Street bored. The honors of the exchange—such as they were—were generally accorded to Roosevelt. There is a practically unanimous feeling that nothing effective can be done anyway until Roosevelt takes over. And as to fact finding—New York feels that all the salient facts are already known.

Certain important New Yorkers are discovering they made a faux pas when they betrayed a strong personal interest in the debts to some of Roosevelt's advisers. The reception of their efforts to make Roosevelt's mind up for him has been distinctly on the chilly side.

STERLING

Continued strength of the pound in foreign exchange is largely due to a heavy volume of short covering after England paid. Informed opinion is certain that the long time trend of sterling is still downward and that the descent will begin again within a few weeks.

SMUGGLING

The rigid application of immigration restrictions is swelling the profits of alien smugglers. The ring is well organized and specializes in bringing in Europeans via the Canadian border. Two lawyers in New York have the business neatly divided. One deals with the lowly type of immigrants who for a fee of between $100 to $200 are brought across the border by the ring's agents. The other one handles cases of more "substantial" foreigners. They come here on visitors visas and are sent to Canada where in some mysterious manner the lawyer provides them with a regular immigration visa. The cost is never less than $1000 and sometimes as high as $2500. A New York congressman furnishes cordial cooperation when required.

BUSINESS

A new organization—the Association of American Business—is nearly ready to announce its existence. Its leaders include Edward F. Hutton, Walter Chrysler, Thomas L. Chadbourne, and F. C. Frand of International Shoe. The object is to unite a broad range of business interests to present a common front to Congress on matters of taxation, government economy, and general business legislation.

Sponsors of the movement feel that the time has come for business to exert unified pressure in its common interest. In the past various industries have tried to negate specific taxes by shoving them off on somebody else—but business as a whole has never had a program of its own. The new organization aims to create a lobby as directly potent as that of the Federation of Labor.

One angle of approach will be the submission of specific tax and economy proposals. Another will

REDMOND EASY FOR BIG BOY'S HEAVY PUNCHES

The bout went the three-round limit but Redmond was so completely exhausted at the finish-line he was gasping for breath.

Six-foot-nine Snafe just stuck out his long left hand when the bout started and kept it in Redmond's nose for three rounds. Redmond landed a few good punches early in the first round, one of them making Big Al's knees buckle momentarily, but Snafe kept him away thereafter by merely stretching out those long arms whenever Redmond charged him.

Replacing Pete Gutierrez in the semi-windup, Manuel Delgado took a three-round lacing from colored former Foster. Delgado made it a full game all the way, and had an even chance to win going into the stretch, but Foster's finish caught the eyes of Referee Frankie Dolan and the judges.

Blackwell Kayotes Kerr

Otto Blackwell, Los Angeles Negro, knocked out Anaheim's Reggie Kerr in the second round of a furious preliminary feature. Kerr shook Blackwell with heavy artillery in the first round but Blackwell stormed the fort in the second, dropping Kerr three times before the Anaheim middleweight's corner wisely saved him further punishment.

Joe Disk, clever Argentine lightweight, had a breeze with one Joe Reese of San Pedro, winning by a knockout in the second. Disk is a fine boxer, deserves better opposition than fellows like Reese.

Cecil Todd, Fullerton middleweight, punched Lawrence Perez into retirement in the second round. Perez wasn't badly hurt but evidently realized it was useless for him to continue. He was right.

Victim of a wretched decision was Delhi's Raoul Solis against Jessy John Nandez of San Pedro. They were lightweights. Solis piled up an early lead and maintained it throughout but one judge and Referee Dolan voted for Nandez.

Referee Stops Bout

Dolan also had trouble in the previous engagement between Ed Orsco, Santa Ana 128-pounder, and Louis Sapien, Los Angeles. The fighters were moving along on even terms when Orsco stubbed his toe in the second round and Dolan mysteriously stopped it, giving Sapien credit for a technical knockout. If Dolan thought it was one of those things he didn't say so.

Firing all his big guns simultaneously, Doyle Richards, Santa Ana 160-pounder, knocked out Fred Solomon, Los Angeles, in the first round. Several knockdowns preceded the finishing touch.

EI Modena's Wally Robles declared Santa Ana's George Dennis in three, and Eddie Rocco out-punched Manuel Cruz in an all-Santa Ana curtain-raiser.

KENTUCKY'S DERBY TO BE RUN MAY 6

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—(UP)—The Kentucky Derby in 1933 will be run May 6, it was decided at a meeting of the Kentucky racing commission at the Latonia, Ky., race track.

M'GUGIN DEVISES SCHEME TO BEAT COACHES' "JONAH JOB"

BY JACK CUDDY

(New Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Big Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt university, slated for election to the presidency of the American Football Coaches' association, "graveyard" of coaches, has a "plan to beat the 'Jonah'."

The old time Michigan guard squared his massive shoulders and smiled nonchalantly while posing for photographs in which Dr. Mal Stevens, retiring president and recently resigned Yale coach, handed him the gavel. Photographers wanted these pictures before the coaches went into the final session of their two-day meeting.

The 52-year-old Nashville coach said he figured to "outsmart Mr. Jonah" during his year as proxy. He had little fear of being forced to quit his coaching post while holding the gavel, despite records of five pilots before him. Stevens was the fifth to resign as coach while in office.

"In the first place," explained McGugin confidently, "I've been at Vanderbilt since 1904. During that time I've bowled over a lot of Jonahs. And then I've got a fine bunch of boys down there in Tennessee who'll play pretty good football next year. Probably not as good as in 1932 because we're losing 12 lettermen through graduation. But we'll make a good showing."

"However, my big ace in the hole consists of two husky young chaps who'll help me coach, Josh Cody and Russel Cohen. I figure it this way—if we have a good year, I'll take the credit, but if we do poorly, I'll blame them. If we win a lot of games, I'll simply refer to them as assistant coaches and grab the glory myself, but if we're heavy losers, I'll call them associate coaches, and they'll have to shoulder two-thirds of the blame. Catch on?"

"You'll make a great president," a listener beamed.

"Yes," agreed Dan with a wide grin. "It's easy for me to figure things like that. You see, I'm a lawyer down in Nashville, as well as coach at Vanderbilt."

McGugin received his football polish under "Hurry-Up" Yost at Michigan where he played guard in 1901 and 1902. He served as assistant to Yost in 1903 and then went to Vanderbilt.

U. S. C. has two of the year's best tackles in Ernie Smith and "Tay" Brown but Pittsburgh is not grumbling about its combination, Frank Walton and Paul Cuba. Walton is shown above. He is rated as the best defensive lineman on the Pitt squad. He stands 5:10, weighs 200. He started as a third stringer this year. At first he was handicapped in offensive work by lack of speed but he has mastered the art of pulling out of the line now.

SAINTS DOUBLE HOOP WINNERS: ACKER IS STAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Malcolm Whitman, former amateur tennis champion and member of the original Davis Cup team in 1900, committed suicide today, police announced, by leaping from the roof of an 11-story building.

His body fell to the yard at the rear of the building. He had been ill for sometime with a nervous ailment and had been under the care of Dr. Menas Gregory, psychiatrist.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Engagement of Miss Betty Lee Cline to Charles Seaver, Northern California amateur golf champion, was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. George T. Cline, Young Seaver was a member of the American Walker Cup team this year. No date has been set for the wedding.

After a brief illness, Allen (Red) Kidder, Coast League championship football team, appeared in a basketball suit for the first time, and played an important part in both victories. Kidder was a regular last season.

Ernie Acker, whom candidates fresh from the football field will have a difficult time replacing, went on another scoring streak, made 16 points against Brea, 15 against Costa Mesa to become the outstanding scorer of the evening.

Two regulars appeared in Santa Ana's regular lineup, opening both games. Fred Wiemer, tall grid candidate, was placed at center, Harold Cook at guard. Bill Hawkins, Laurence Roberts and Frank Clark, center candidates, were not in suit. Neither was Bob Schwarm, regular guard.

The combination that showed the most class included Acker and Kidder, forward; Walt Hendrie, center; Al Thieden and Harold Cook, guards, all of whom were in some good work at guard, considering the short time they have been in suit. Hendrie and Wiemer were on a par at center.

Costa Mesa Stubbins

The Saints completely out-classed Brea-Olinda. After overcoming a 4 to 0 lead in the first quarter, Santa Ana led all the way, 6-5, 17-7, 21-11 and 29-13. But it was a different story in

JACKSON FINISHES PACHO AT OLYMPIC

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Young Peter Jackson stood in line for the state lightweight championship today after beating Bobby Pacheco, former titleholder, out of the picture in the tenth round of their scrap at the Olympic last night.

The Negro lightie applied a right uppercut to the cleft of Pacheco's chin 28 seconds after the final round started for the knockout. Pacheco himself was trying for a knockout when the punch sent him sprawling on the canvas. Until that juncture, the Mexican was trailing on points.

Jackson will earn a clear debt to the title if he defeats Barney Ross here January 10.

Jackson weighed 134, Pacheco 132.

Stanford Quintet Defeats Colorado

BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Stanford university defeated the University of Colorado, 25 to 21, in a basketball game here last night.

The contest last night was the first of a two-game series. The second will be played at Denver tonight.

GOLDEN BEARS DRAFT 11-GAME CARD FOR 1933

BERKELEY, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Bill Ingram, head football coach at California, took a look today at the 11-game gridiron schedule completed for the Golden Bears in 1933, and groaned.

Starting with Santa Clara and winding up with Notre Dame—that's the assignment Ingram and his proteges face. "Sailor Bill" confessed his brow probably would be filled with worry wrinkles, come next Thanksgiving.

Rather than terminate a friendly rivalry of several years standing, California has put Santa Clara down for the inaugural game, September 25. This is just one week after practice starts. The Bronco's defeated the Bears last fall and are expected to have plenty of strength in 1933.

The second week end will find the Bears attempting an "iron man" stunt—tackling two foes in one afternoon. One will be the California Argies. A second opponent for the doubleheader is yet to be chosen.

The remainder of the schedule:

Oct. 7—St. Mary's.

Oct. 14—Olympic club.

Oct. 21—Washington State.

Oct. 28—U. S. C.

Nov. 4—U. C. L. A.

Nov. 11—Washington.

Nov. 18—Idaho.

Nov. 25—Stanford.

Dec. 9 or 23—Notre Dame.

U. S. NETMEN CINCH AUSTRALIAN SERIES

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Touring American tennis players won three of four matches from Australian players today and took the series, eight matches to four.

V. McGrath of Australia won the only match for Australia today when he beat Keith Gledhill, 6-3, 6-3. Wilmer Allison beat Harry Hopman, 6-8, 6-4, 6-0. John Van Ryn beat C. Sproule, 6-3, 6-5, 6-3. Vines and Gledhill beat Jack Crawford and Hopman, 9-11, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

The Americans and Australians broke even in the four matches played on the opening day, and the Americans won three out of four yesterday.

Santa Monica Golf Entries Total 150

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Entries in the Santa Monica Open golf championship neared the 150 mark today, two days before the tournament starts.

Included among the entries is Fred Morrison, state open champion, who is paired with Paul Hunter, prominent amateur, in the opening round.

OREGON RALLIES, WINS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(UP)—University of Oregon's touring cage team came from behind to take a hard fought game from the Young Men's institute five, 28-26, here last night.

BEARS BURY CHICO

CHICO, Dec. 28.—(UP)—University of California's basketball team displayed dazzling ability at goal shooting here last night in defeating Chico State Teachers' college, 54-32.

PSYCHOLOGICAL FURY PROBLEM OF 'HEAD MAN'

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(UP)—The going got tougher on the Southern California practice front today with taskmaster Howard Jones striving to whip his footballers into the proper psychological fury to beat Pitt next Monday.

After sarcastically reminding his men they were not yet National champions, Jones took a stronger hand in affairs by giving his quarterbacks a personal demonstration in field generalship. He was displeased by the manner in which Homer Griffith and his assistant, Irvine Warburton, were calling signals so the coach barked them himself.

Jones experimented frequently with Griffith at full and Warburton at quarter, a speedy combination but less powerful than with Gordon Clark at full and Griffith at his regular signal calling post. Although a handicap on line drives, with Jones' strategy apparently one of starting with power and later switching to speed, Warburton is expected to occupy the bench at the opening kickoff.

The Southern California line probably will be intact with its first stringers. Thus far the Trojans have been lucky in escaping injury.

CUBA, PANTHER TACKLE HURT IN PRACTICE

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Pittsburgh's gridders presented a somewhat crippled appearance today as they prepared for final drills before enroute for Pasadena where they meet Southern California next Monday.

Paul Cuba, left tackle, renewed an old leg injury in scrimmage sessions yesterday that may affect his playing ability in the Tournament of Roses game although team physicians said they were not yet certain. It was believed, however, the wound would not keep him from the lineup.

Warren Heller, halfback luminary, and Mike Sebastian, his running mate, also felt the sting of being buffeted about in scrimmage but their hurts were minor.

Calling a halt to his form of drill, Coach Jack Sutherland ordered his men out today for less strenuous exercises. Tactical maneuvers were the order of the day, designed to perfect the Panthers' running and aerial attack. Sutherland said the work would be lightened each day until Saturday when the squad entrains for California.

The final scrimmage session developed a smoother type of play than was apparent in Monday's workout. For two hours, Sutherland's first and second squads squared off in a game which he called the "U. S. C." team which was unable to cope with the situation. Particularly offensive to the "Trojans" was Torney, center, who was a small sized tornado on the defense, nailing runner after runner for losses. "Izzy" Weinstein and his understudy, Henry Weisenbaugh, fullbacks, led the offense by smashing through the reserves' line for consistent gains. Sutherland was visibly cheered by the showing of his regulars.

COACHES WOULD HELP TO MAKE RULE CHANGES

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Establishment of a rules committee was voted today by the Football Coaches' association. This committee will select delegates to sit with the National Collegiate Athletic association's rules committee and offer suggestions to the latter body. The committee of the N. C. A. A. will retain its power to decide playing rules.

In the past, coaches have acted merely in advisory capacities. Now they will inaugurate changes and submit them to the N. C. A. A. group.

Coach D. O. ("Tus") McLowry of Brown, in reporting on stabilization of coaches urged that greater effort be expended toward retaining football as a sport. He proposed that coaches make the matter of fun for the players, and not strive too earnestly for victory, thus making the players mere cogs in machines.

Coach Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt reported that the trustees had decided to hold the 1933 meetings in Chicago if the N. C. A. A. also holds its meeting there.

LA BARBA, PAUL IN CHI BOUT THURSDAY

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Eight boxers who appear on the Chicago stadium's card tomorrow night argued today concerning which fight would occupy the windup position. To settle the dispute they will draw lots at weighing-in time tomorrow.

Two featherweight and two light heavyweight bouts comprise the program. Tommy Paul meets Fidel La Barba, leading contender, at 10 rounds. Jackie Sharkey faces Fred Miller in an eight-rounder. Maxie Rosenbloom battles Billy Jones and Martin Levandowski and Bob Olin complete the card.

MCCASLIN WELL IS PUMPING OIL, MUD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 28.—The McCaslin well at Ninth and Ocean is pumping water and mud with oil to the pump and gives indications of clearing up and is said to have a chance to make a fairly good well, although its flow of oil cannot be determined until after it pumps itself free of water.

Dan Copeland and associates are planning to start a well near Springfield and Delaware. It will be finished in the shallow sand, it is said. Frampton and Blake are completing a well in the same general area and the Southern California Drilling company is also completing a well in that area. The W. and T. Welding company will build a derrick in that area next week at the corner of Quincey and Alabama.

Oil men are talking about a change in the price of oil. Some claim there will be a reduction, but the major companies have not indicated their intention of cutting the price of crude oil.

HIGHWAY PLANCHILDREN OF AUTO CLUBS MESA SECTION TOLD CHAMBER AT GATHERING

PLACENTIA, Dec. 28.—The two leading automobile clubs of California favor taking into the secondary state highway system, 6,624 miles of roads now constructed and being cared for by the counties. In doing so, it will equalize the distribution of state highway between Northern and Southern California as a means for disposing equally of the funds the state gleams, and distributes, to the counties, from the three cents per gallon levied as a tax on gas, and the tax on vehicles, and money from licensees, according to Ivan Kelo, Los Angeles, who spoke at the chamber of commerce meeting yesterday.

This plan is considered advisable above alternatives for disposition of the gas tax, namely asking that it be reduced, turning it into the general fund, in part, and giving it to the cities to care for their highways, he said. According to the speakers, the cities would benefit materially by the plan the clubs want adopted for disposal of the funds.

The speaker, introduced by Robert Seamans, Fullerton, manager of Fullerton branch of the Auto Club of Southern California, told of the unequal distribution of the state highways, and said people of Northern California have 1,800 miles, while those of Southern California have but 555 miles of state road, while those of the southern part of the state pay 60 percent of the money that builds the roads.

At the business session, over which A. S. Bradford presided, the report of the nominating committee returned four names to fill the board of directors. Voting will be at the annual meeting Jan. 9 at the Round Table clubhouse where the annual meeting will be held.

Names submitted are A. S. Bradford, E. P. Backs, J. F. Hixon, and Dr. E. H. Brunemeler. Retiring directors are A. S. Bradford, Mrs. Nellie Cline, Frank Rospaw and Gilbert Kraemer.

Fred Waite, reporting for the committee, said their plan which seemed desirable, is to start a system of rotation of members for directors. Other members of the committee were L. T. Aldridge and E. A. Eisenacher.

A petition was circulated asking Governor James Rolph to consider T. L. McPadden as a member of the railroad commission, to replace Leon Whitsett of Orange. Mrs. Nellie Cline, in presenting the petition, said reports were to the effect that Whitsett is eliminated from consideration for reappointment.

LEGION'S KITCHEN AIDS 20 MEN DAILY

FULLERTON, Dec. 28.—Fullerton transient kitchen, provided through the efforts of the Fullerton American Legion post, is caring for an average of 20 transients a day, and provides each person with two meals and a place to sleep for one night.

Although the policy is to care for them but for that period of time, many repeaters are registered, and are cared for provided proper intervals of time intervene.

The committee in charge, Herb Sattler, chairman; George Willis, in charge of the commissary; Robert Seamans, in charge of laundry; Perry Raymond and Walter Humphreys, holds to a ruling that each person should pay, in work, for the benefits received, and so the men provide funds for the kitchen by cutting wood, which is sold to residents.

The men do a certain amount of work for each meal. One of the residents, Charles Bly, who came to the place a year ago, is general manager of the camp and another, "Leo," is cook.

This camp is located at the eastern city limits of the city, on Union Pacific right-of-way, in a railroad section house. On Christmas a turkey dinner was served.

Picture Kin On Calendar Of Lagunan

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 28.—Finding his sister's picture in a commercial calendar, handed to him by J. E. Blakely, was the unique experience of Constable Benning W. Elliott here yesterday. Arriving home with the calendar, Elliott went out to the garage to do some chores. He heard a scream and says he thought one of the children had been hurt. Arriving at the house quickly he saw his wife waving the calendar toward him. Then she asked if he could recognize a figure in one of the pictures. It was a scene near the shore of a wooded lake and sitting in a canoe were the figures of a woman and a man. Elliott recognized both instantly—his sister, Mrs. P. M. Street, and her husband of St. Joseph, Mo., and the scene was at Sugar Lake, some distance south of that city.

It developed that the Streets were snapped in their canoe by an amateur photographer, who won a prize with the photo in a Denver newspaper contest. The picture illustrated the month of May.

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Although it's much too early to talk about such a thing, the 1934 crop of candidates for governor is beginning to make its appearance.

Everyone knows, of course, that Governor Ralph is going to run again. After January 1, he will be one of a semi-half-dozen Republican governors left in the United States, which his friends insist will put him out in front as a vice-presidential possibility in the next presidential election.

It has also been an open secret ever since Ralph's inauguration that Lieutenant Governor Frank P. Merriam would also seek the governor's chair in 1934. In fact, Merriam has never ceased campaigning in the last 2 years. His biggest threat is a crowded field in Southern California, and judging from the list of aspirants, it is going to be a big job to keep the Republican boys out of the race down there.

Supervisor John E. Quinn is regarded as almost a certain starter, not to mention Congressman Phil D. Swann, and Joe Crail, both of whom will be out of jobs next year. It is said that the Rev. Robert P. Shuler of radio fame is flirting with the idea, and Senator Tallant Tubbs of San Francisco, runner-up in the last election for United States Senator.

Progressive Possibility
State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson has told friends he is in dead earnest this time about entering the lists for governor, but he is going to give the field pretty closely before turning his back on his present position. President Robert Sproul of the University of California is mentioned as a compromise between Progressive and conservative groups on the Republican ticket.

Speaking of Progressives, if that wing of the party offers a candidate for governor, such as Former Governor C. C. Young or Bert B. Meek, former director of public works, it is believed likely they will have a complete ticket for all state offices. The old-time corporation war-cry of the Progressives is dead. The new issues will be re-organization of the tax system, economy in government, and abolition of the "spoils system."

There seems to be no shortage of potential candidates for lieutenant governor. Fred E. Stewart of Oakland, director of the state tax research bureau, appears to be the outstanding possibility at the moment. But State Senators Arthur H. Breed of Oakland and J. M. Inman of Sacramento are also mentioned. They're also receptive to suggestions.

Political Gossip
A serious movement is under way to hire only unemployed men who are heads of families as legislative attaches. Opposition comes only from senator and assemblymen who want to hand out patronage.

It appears there will be no fight on the proposal to stop commercial fishing on the Klamath river. There will be 32 lawyers in the assembly, the largest number on record.

Governor Ralph will ask the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a $750,000 loan to increase state unemployment camps.

Progress Made Toward Getting Division Of Gas Tax

STATE GROUPS AGREE CITIES SHOULD SHARE

That some action may be forthcoming soon which will give the cities of the state a share of the monies collected as gasoline taxes, was the word brought back to Santa Ana this week by J. L. McBride, city councilman and member of the state committee for the California League of Municipalities, following a meeting in San Francisco.

The meeting in the northern city, held by the State Chamber of Commerce, to which committees representing the California League of Municipalities and the California Supervisors' association were invited, was one which greatly favored the cities in their fight for the tax money, McBride said.

There were two meetings. The first was between the League of Municipalities committee and the supervisors' committee which was an aftermath of a meeting held the week previously in Los Angeles. At this meeting the supervisors' committee agreed on several points, namely:

Increase Sum

1. That one and a half cents of the gasoline tax monies should be returned to the counties instead of one cent as is the present plan, the one-half cent being taken away from the California Highway commission.

2. That the cities, out of the one and a half cents should be entitled to a direct allocation of one-half of the amount of money these cities paid into the state, this being based on registration of automobiles.

3. That both the cities and the counties should adopt a county plan which would not be based on political boundary lines, whereby the monies expended by both cities and counties would benefit the counties as a whole, regardless of the registration numbers, and the monies spent on such a unit plan before any allocation of funds is made by the counties.

4. That the motor vehicle department change its laws so that cars would be registered from the places where they are used. It was pointed out that the Standard Oil company owns 10,000 trucks in California and all are registered from San Francisco.

5. That all automobile owners should have a receipt from the county assessor showing that their tax in the county had been paid prior to the issuance of the state license tags. This has been the contention, McBride pointed out.

of the county assessors for several years.

County Gets More

Orange county, he said, in 1931 received $263,550 in gasoline tax monies from the state, the county getting this sum at the one cent rate. Had the division been based on the one and a half cent rate, the county would still have received $267,000 without any obligation to the incorporated cities of the county, he pointed out, and in addition to that amount here would have been $138,000 to divide among the cities.

Under the new plan, if put into effect, the cities of Orange county will be able to reduce taxes for street maintenance while the board of supervisors will be able to do the same in the unincorporated areas, McBride said.

The second meeting was held with the State Chamber of Commerce representatives on the following day in San Francisco. Committees from the Automobile club of both Northern and Southern California were present and presented a plan calling for the addition of 6000 more miles for the state highway system, claiming that the highway commission at the present time is receiving more money than it now needs for the present system.

Another plan was submitted by a group representing the Central state area of the Chamber of Commerce which added 2000 miles to the highway system.

John Quinn, Los Angeles, representing the Southern division of the Chamber of Commerce presented a plan calling for the return to the counties of one and a half cents of the gasoline tax monies which was very much the same as offered by Hollis Thompson, Los Angeles, representing the California League of Municipalities. The Thompson plan, however, went further in the allocation of monies after it was returned to the counties.

Reach Agreement

With these three plans presented, the state committee of the Chamber of Commerce decided to see what plans would be adopted unanimously. They agreed unanimously that the state highway commission wash receiving too much money; that there should be more equalization in the spending of money for the secondary highways of the state, claiming that the primary highways were being given too much attention in comparison; that there should be a more flexible method provided by the legislature in regard to spending state money in that approximately 75 per cent is spent now on primary roads and only 25 per cent on secondary highways; that the state highway commission should extend its new work through cities instead of to the cities' boundaries in so far as width of roads is concerned. This does not affect Santa Ana because city streets now connect at the same width as state highways, McBride said.

Only one vote was taken by the Chamber of Commerce group however, and that was on the question of adding 6000 miles to the state highway road system. It was voted down.

Later, in the executive session, the state group agreed that one and a half cents of the gasoline tax monies should be returned to the counties instead of one cent, but made no suggestions regarding the allocation of the money after it was returned to the counties.

FLAWS IN TECHNOCRATS' DATA POINTED OUT BY ECONOMISTS

Theories Of Technocracy Challenged

Many leaders of industry and economic thought have challenged the basic ideas as well as the revolutionary implications of Technocracy. Some of the criticisms are explained in this, the last of a series of six articles on the Technocratic movement.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Conservative economists and prominent figures in industry have challenged practically every statement uttered by Technocracy. Some critics are content merely to voice their scorn and general disbelief of the whole new "scientific philosophy" and its promises of a deductions with contradictory prosperity and leisure in a nation controlled by engineers. Other opponents have met Technocracy's marvelous new era of combined data.

In fact, about the only common ground on which Technocrat and critic can meet is the belief that technological progress must go on. In the days of the old Industrial Revolution, reactionaries went about smashing the machines that were believed to be threatening their jobs. But everyone is agreed that the way back is not the way out today. The machine must be made more and more efficient.

From that point on, the two paths are widely divergent. Technocracy says simply that our robot slaves should be made to do more of the world's work. Industrialism says better machines are needed to permit the growth of the business, the return to prosperity, and the release of workers for the building up of new industries.

Blades and Fiber

Technocracy makes the bitter charge that some industries already would be practically nonexistent if they had been making the best possible products instead of ones which would wear out quickly and require replacement. Howard Scott, chief Technocrat, has mentioned a tungsten-edged razor blade which he says could last for 30 cents and would last a lifetime. Metallurgists, among them Gregory Constable, of the Fifth-Sterling Steel Company, declare their experiments with tungsten carbide steel for that purpose have been unsuccessful. They say further that if such a blade, or any of the other sensationally superior products mentioned by Technocrats, they could not be withheld from a competitive market.

Technocrats have spoken of a fibrous nettle plant called ramie as another example. Ramie, they say, has 22-inch fibers, is stronger when wet than when dry, and when made into cloth wears seven times better than wool. Ten times more of it than cotton can be grown to the acre, and it can be harvested with machinery.

Textile experts, however, say that ramie cannot compare with wool, cotton or linen in commercial quality. As for the wet-dry question, all vegetable fibers are stronger when wet. Ramie has been known for 100 years, and during the last few decades has figured in a number of stock-selling schemes.

BUSINESS LEADERS DISAGREE

Technical advances allow men to do more work, but critics of Technocracy declare that labor is still the most important cog in the modern industrial machine. Roger Babson, business statistician, is shown at left, above, as he traced a graphic challenge to Technocracy. Frank A. Vanderlip, (right), is a financier who believes the present system will survive.

Bricks and Pig Iron

The Technocrats have stated that 100 men working in five modern plants could turn out all bricks the nation needs—at a rate of 400,000 bricks a day per man. R. S. Tilden, manager of the New Jersey Brick Association, says that 2000, instead of 400,000, is the maximum. He also points out that the transportation of brick throughout the country from five centralized plants would cost more than the bricks themselves.

Pig-iron production has been another subject of controversy. Technocracy has claimed that the industry has been mechanized to 650 times its productivity of 50 years ago. John Van Deventer, editor of the magazine, "Iron Age," showed this reporter government statistics proving that productivity had been stepped up only 23.2 times. Scott, in rebuttal said he had been talking in terms of man-hours per ton instead of in terms of number of men employed. Van Deventer, however, declares that the figures must be pure guesswork because they are based on payroll records which do not exist further back than 1921.

Such inaccuracies as have been proven against Technocracy may not materially alter the bases of its contentions against our industrial system. But those mis-prove that much less machinery is being installed now than in normal years.

"More Work—Not Less"

Roger Babson, statistician and business analyst, believes that Technocracy is "a crime against the American standard of living." "We need to work more, not less," he declared. "For today we are producing only the same amount of shoes, clothing, furniture and houses as were being made in 1912, yet our population has increased by 20,000,000. This country can absorb all the goods that our modern machinery and the labor of our normally employed men can turn out."

John M. Carmody, president of the Society of Industrial Engineers, admits that many of Technocracy's general charges are true—especially that technological developments tend to increase industry's debt load. But he believes that industry will readjust itself, will shorten working hours to provide men with jobs, and will keep wages at the highest possible point to preserve, or create, consumer buying power.

Frank A. Vanderlip is the one Wall Street financier who has publicly spoken a kindly word for Technocracy. He says that "Technocracy is making an important contribution to the understanding of our paradox of unemployment and want in the midst of plenty. He agrees that industry, through its rising debt load, has been mortgaging the future."

But Vanderlip, along with other leaders, declares that our present system has learned its lesson and will find its way out. They do not believe that we are ready to bow to the robot.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Dec. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murdy are entertaining a group of relatives, Mrs. Murdy's brother, Charles Price, and wife and son and her sister, Mrs. Lily Stanley, and daughter, The visitors are of Port Bragg, Calif. Harlan Moore entertained as overnight guests, J. Coxon and C. Jones, of Oceanside.

Donald Phillips, who has been ill with influenza for several weeks, is now convalescing.

"Forty years ago," said the editor of "Iron Age," "when the electric motor was being introduced to skeptical industry, there were 69 workers per thousand of population in all our manufacturing industries. In 1929, after intensive mechanization, there were 72.1-2 workers per thousand in these same industries."

Technocracy believes that because the whole purpose of mechanization under our present system is to reduce production costs, plant executives are counting on bigger and better machines to pull them out of the present slump. If our peak production of 1929 were to be resumed today, they say, not more than half of our unemployed could get on the payrolls again. The other jobs already are being done by robots.

Van Deventer, ardent anti-Technocrat, has found figures to

DELIVERY OF ORCHESTRA OF AUTO PLATES TO UNEMPLOYED TO BEGIN JAN. 3 PLAY FOR VETS

Counter delivery of 1933 motor vehicle license plates will open at all branches of the department of motor vehicles, on Tuesday, January 3 and at all branches of the authorized automobile clubs of the state.

This announcement, made today by Russell Bevans, registrar of motor vehicles, signaled the official opening of the 1933 license renewal season although it has been possible since December 1 to apply for plates by mail.

To secure new plates, the applicant is required to present only his certificate of registration and the amount of his fee. He receives his plates immediately but a new certificate is mailed to him later. The fee is just the same as last year but if the owner has completed the payments on his car during the year and accepted legal ownership, an additional fee of $1 is required for the transfer of title.

For those unable to visit a branch office, Bevans advises that the simplest and easiest way to get plates is to apply by mail to the main office at Sacramento. To do so the applicant is only required to forward his certificate of registration and his fee by check, money order or bank draft. The present address of the applicant should appear on the certificate of registration and the county of residence should be designated.

Branch offices near here are located at Long Beach, Pasadena and Hollywood.

An orchestra, comedian, and guitar soloist will be used to furnish the program under the direction of Martin L. E. McCall, who was instrumental in securing the services of the Unemployed Association orchestra for this occasion.

Plans for the 1933 program will be discussed and a report of the successful Christmas tree party given last week, when some 250 children and as many grownups were highly entertained, will be submitted for the approval of the membership.

"Being the last meeting of the present year a large attendance is anticipated and all disabled veterans are cordially invited to participate in tonight's function," Commander Earl B. Hawks, said today.

We felt that this Christmas was a very important time for us. The responsibility is always more vital at this time, but greater this year!

To be entrusted with furnishing things that are to go as messengers of affection from one person to another, and to measure up to and be worthy of this assignment, is the finest thing that can come to a store.

These tokens of people's feelings meant more this year than ever before. It is a fine privilege to share in their selection, to be busy this week making adjustments in sizes, colors, etc., so that each gift may be perfect—this is understanding service that helps to show our appreciation to those who chose us as their Christmas store!

BREWERS' PLAN DISCUSSED AS W.C.T.U. MEETS

ORANGE, Dec. 28.—Orange W. C. T. U. members outlined activities of the near future when they met yesterday afternoon in the Friendly Hand classroom of the First Presbyterian church, with Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess as the speaker.

The group made plans for having a Hall-Summers debate, "The Aftermath," in this city on the evening of January 17, the place of meeting to be announced later. It was decided to hold an all-day meeting of the union, with a covered dish luncheon at noon, on January 10 in the home of Mrs. Mary Gross.

In her talk, Mrs. Hess brought before the union plans of the American brewers to educate the public and especially the young people, to destroy beer. She quoted an advertisement from "The Brewing Industry" published just after election day in November stating that "Half the expected market for beer does not exist today. Not one-tenth of one percent of the youth in colleges know what really good American beer tastes like. They will have to be educated. Obviously there must be a campaign of education, and the one field in which this can be conducted is the most important of all for immediate and future business—the colleges."

The advertisement for the brewers further stated that "It should be a co-operative campaign to sell beer, to create a vigorous demand for good legal beer before it is supplied to them, to make them avid for it. It is one of the few instances when it is wise to create a demand that cannot be supplied." Mrs. Hess said that the brewers are preparing to debauch the youth of the land with a definite program.

Mrs. Minnie Neville, president, was in charge of the meeting. There was group singing of "Just When I Need Him Most," with Mrs. Elliott accompanying at the piano. Mrs. Emily Reid gave devotionals on the Christmas theme, and Mrs. Hess led in prayer.

Those responding to roll call with pertinent topics were Mrs. Reid, Miss Mary Heywood, Mrs. Flora Ralph and Mrs. Hess.

Present 'Star Of Bethlehem' Next Sunday In Church

ORANGE, Dec. 28.—An after Christmas program is to be presented Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, when the Wright California players will give a sacred play, "The Star of Bethlehem."

This will be a four-act production. It was stated today that the Wright California players have given three dramatic productions, "The Shadow of the Cross," "The Fisherman of Galilee," and "The Star of Bethlehem" in the Hollywood Congregational church.

Dr. Knopf, of the department of Biblical literature and research, is expected to talk on his latest discoveries in his research as well as older findings. He has just been assigned special quarters on the roof of the new million dollar Dougherty library of the University of Southern California. Here he has a special room, with all equipment for studying clay tablets recently unearthed in Egypt, Babylon and sections of the Holy Land. It is said that some of the tablets were written in the days of Nehemiah and Jeremiah, and have never before been deciphered. Some new light on the Jewish captivity has been made possible by the tablets, it is reported.

Dr. Knopf is just completing a new book on the Old Testament for Thomas Nelson and Son, which, it is said, contains many of the new decipherings.

The church night programs are open to all interested. They are to begin with a dinner at 5:15 o'clock in the evenings. Lectures and class work will follow.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Here's where I show you what I can do," said Windy. "All the rest of you can lend a hand, but I'll be boss over fixing up our plane."

"I am an aviator, see? And this is nothing new to me. I promise that the work that we all do won't be in vain."

"The wings, of course, fit on the side. They make the balance when you ride. The big propeller fits in front where it can whirl around."

"When it's together you will see a plane that's neat as it can be. I only hope, when we are set, 'twill raise off the ground."

"Of course we haven't gas right now, but I will get a lot, somehow. Just yank the big propeller with your hands. It is no trick," Brave Duncy did as he was told. No sooner had he grabbed a hold and jerked one of the blades than they flopped right down on the ground.

The others had to laugh in glee and Duncy said, "You should thank me! My first try at the big propeller made the thing go round."

BONERS

Charlemagne, generally known as Richard of the Lion's Heart, was probably one of the most colorful of all the kings.

There is no excuse for bad manners. When you don't know any better they are vulgar.

There is a statue of Hall Caine on the coast of the Isle of Man as a warning to all approaching vessels.

It was not necessary to have a sense of humor to laugh at the things he said.

F. A. YUNGBLUTH APPOINTED TO CITY COUNCIL

ANAHEIM, Dec. 28.—F. A. Yungbluth, prominent Anaheim resident for 40 years, merchant and taxpayer, was appointed to the city board of trustees last night at the regular council meeting held in the city hall. Mayor Charles Mann presided.

Immediately following the nomination, made by Leo Sheridan, Yungbluth was telephoned and a police escort, headed by Chief of Police James S. Bouldin, was sent after Yungbluth. Upon his arrival he was sworn in and took his place at the board table where he will be one of the five men who will preside over the destinies of the city for the next year.

Yungbluth fills the unexpired term of the late Mayor Fred Koesel who was tragically killed on November 28 by two bandits in Brea canyon. His term will be up in April, 1934.

In making his nomination Sheridan declared that "merchants are asking for representation on the board, heavy taxpayers are asking for representation and laborers are asking for representation. Such a man as F. A. Yungbluth will answer these requests."

He also cited that the new trustee was one of the late Mayor Koesel's closest and most trusted friends and that the appointment would be one such as he would desire.

The new appointee has lived in Anaheim for 40 years, coming here directly from his home in Germany when he was sixteen. Since arriving he has been in the men's clothing business and is now one of the leading merchants in the city, owning the "Yungbluth Men's Clothing Store."

Yungbluth has served as officer or director in practically every civic organization in the city with the exception of the city council. He has never been a candidate for this public office.

MISS YUNGBLUTH TO ENTERTAIN GUILD

ANAHEIM, Dec. 28.—Miss Dorothy Yungbluth, retiring directress of St. Agnes Guild of St. Michael's Episcopal church will entertain the club members with a bridge party Thursday night at her home on West Broadway street. The officers will be elected at the January meeting, but as nominations have already closed Miss Freda Lumsden will be the new directress, following the formality of casting the ballots. The nominations were read at the last meeting by Mrs. Clyde Cromer, chairman of the nominating committee.

Tales of Christmas Continue to Tell of Season's Joys

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sutton of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Burns of Laguna Beach, with their young people, Miss Valeria Sutton and Miss Emma Waxman, and her holiday house guest from Long Beach, and Miss Marjorie and Curtis Burns; Thomas Watts of La Verne, and Mr. and Mrs. Lethard Burns of Los Angeles, nephew and niece of the hosts.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was enjoyed around the tree in the after-dinner interval.

On Successive Days

A delightful celebration shared by the families of Albert F. Lane and Charles R. Hawthorne, had its initial features on Christmas Eve, when Mr. and Mrs. Lane entertained in their home, 1021 Oak street.

The gayety reached its climax when all the guests surrounded the prettily decorated tree and received the host and hostess packages with which it was burdened. After all the gifts had been opened and admired, the hosts served refreshments to conclude a happy Christmas Eve.

In the party in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Lane and their sons, Edward and Larry Lane, and the latter's friend, Jack Travis, were Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne and their daughter, Miss Marjorie and Wanda Hawthorne.

On Christmas day the party had a happy sequel in the mid-day dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne were hosts in their home, 1032 West Eighth street. A gallantly decked tree, wreaths of holly, cottonseed and scarlet poinsettias, were features of the decorative effect, and a large turkey was roasted to a turn to crown the delicious dinner menu. The same group of guests found places at the charmingly appointed table.

5 O'clock Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Rukey were hosts at a 5 o'clock dinner on Christmas afternoon, giving the affair in their home, 1512 Durant street. There were two tables appointed with red tapers and geranium leaves, one for children present and the other for their parents.

After the turkey dinner there was a social time, with guests opening their gifts by candlelight. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hanna and sons, Mark and John of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. D. Campbell and daughters, Elizabeth and Janet of Tustin and Dr. and Mrs. Rukey and daughter, Judith.

Tedford and son and daughter, Tom and Margaret Tedford, and the young son and daughter of the hosts, Billy and Barbara Armstrong. Mrs. Minnie Baxter, another sister of the host, was not present for the reunion as she spent the holidays in Ocean Park with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baxter.

Happy Holiday Group

Dr. and Mrs. Howard N. Brothers had as their dinner guests on Christmas day, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Daggett of Pasadena, and little Miss Phyllis Daggett, granddaughter of the hosts, together with their son, Norvin Brothers, and Miss Esther Hallauer of Glendora.

A delectable dinner served to the accompaniment of holiday greetings and a sparkling tree with exchange of gifts were details of the happy gathering. Little Miss Phyllis remained for a holiday visit with her grandparents, and will accompany them back to Pasadena on New Year's day, when Mr. and Mrs. Daggett will be holiday dinner hosts after the whole party sees the annual Rose tournament parade.

McFarren Celebration

After various individual celebrations of the season in their different homes, sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Feaner McFarren joined in a gala holiday dinner and musicale held on Monday night in the family home, 412 East Chestnut street.

A beautifully decorated tree, poinsettias and greenery established the holiday colors, while dinner was served at a large table bearing a Scene of the Nativity. Immediately after the enjoyment of the feast, Mr. McFarren expressed his greetings to song and daughters with their families, and regret that Mr. and Mrs. John B. Culey and little daughter, Betty Jeanne, were unable to come from their Wisconsin home and complete the family circle.

In the musical program, variety was given by cornet solos played by Dr. Harry G. Huffman, Robert McFarren and Don McFarren, violin duets played by Robert and James Crawford; a dance by Genevieve and Leonore McFarren; piano solos by Miss Sue Ray; a Christmas story told by Mrs. W. C. McFarren; a pantomime by W. M. Clegg, and various recitations by little folks of the group.

Daughters of Veterans

When Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met yesterday afternoon in Pythian hall, it was with Mrs. Lena Hewitt, president, and 14 of her sister officers occupying their positions.

Reports showed that 26 calls had been made, 25 bouquets sent, and the sum of $219 expended in patriotic work in the interval since the latest previous meeting. Further reports were to the effect that 127 had been served at the annual Christmas dinner to Civil War veterans and their wives and widows, given in Pythian hall by Sons and Daughters jointly, and that 27 dinners had been sent out to those unable to be present.

At the recent election of officers the posts of chaplain and first council member had not been filled, so Mrs. Jessie Ovarton was elected chaplain and Mrs. Lena Hewitt, who is concluding her second year as president of the tent, first council. Installation will take place in January.

The meeting was made especially interesting by a history of the order read by Mrs. Hewitt, who had delved into records to assemble also an accompanying history of Sarah A. Rounds tent, a most valuable and informative document.

One of the pleasant events of the season was the celebration of the 47th anniversary of the tent held in conjunction with the joint Christmas dinner of the Sons and Daughters late last week in K. P. hall. Daughters had charge of dining room arrangements, Mrs. Edith Moore and Mrs. Minnie McClure as the decorating committee. They chose miniature Santa Claus and trees for table decorations. Mrs. Hewitt presented the birthday cake, candy and ice cream of the

Local Patronage Among Subjects Dealt With By Forum Women

"Why Patronize Home Merchants?" "Outstanding Americans," and the Orange County Health Camp for Children were the three topics discussed before members of the Women's Forum yesterday by Dr. Julian Hinrichs, Mrs. Angelina Courtney and Mrs. Maria Mueller, respectively. The speakers were presented by Mrs. Major Anderson, acting program chairman.

The roles of toastmistress and critic were filled by Mrs. Stella McFarren and Mrs. John Clarkson, two of a large audience of members enjoying the program. Presented as guests were Mrs. Mary Moody and Mrs. L. Morgan, both of El Modena.

Royal Neighbors

Juveniles were guests of honor at the Christmas party given by Royal Neighbors of America Monday evening in the M. W. A. hall. The decorating committee, composed of Mrs. Clara Blackwell, chairman, Walter Blackwell, Ashley Knowlton, Dean Laub, John Monk, and Mrs. Inna Rush, succeeded in making the hall resemble Christmas Eve in a land of snow. Snow draped the rafters, pictures and desks. The stage was enclosed by a snow covered picket fence and the enclosure resembled the grounds of a little country church complete from building to snow evergreens at whose bases were heaped gifts for everyone.

Mrs. Kimball was in charge of the program which opened with carols by the Royal Neighbors' Glee club, directed by Mrs. Elva Crawford with Edward Stovall as accompanist. Readings were given by Betty Manderscheid, Opal Manderscheid, and Mary Elizabeth Carey, other features including a dialogue by Dawn and Corinne Corbett; cornet numbers by M. R. Brownell and his son, Junior, with Miss Valerie Brownell as accompanist, and saxophone solos by Warren Kimball with Onetia Ames at the piano.

A short business meeting followed the program and plans were made for installation ceremonies on the night of January 9. The distribution of gifts followed, with popcorn balls and candy for all, and the party closed with dancing.

FINANCIAL TRADE-WINDS

The trade-wind of the Indian Ocean blows six months northeast and six months southwest. Old-time sailing captains knew and valued its dependability. For, day after day and week after week, it sent their ships bowling smoothly and steadily along.

In the financial world, too, are powerful forces of progress, as constant as the winds of the Indian Ocean. And among these forces none is more dependable than that which, since 1889, has forwarded Pacific States Savings' customers on their financial voyage.

The fundamental human need for shelter is the force back of the security and the steady yield afforded by Pacific States Savings. Through thousands of well chosen, well diversified loans on homes, this force is harnessed to provide security and steady yield to the funds entrusted to us. Consider what this force has accomplished for Pacific States Savings' customers during the last three years. The earning power of their funds here has remained favorable and continuous. Their capital has been well conserved. Their fortunate experience shines in marked contrast with that of investors in so many other fields.

Now . . . with the new year just beginning . . . isn't it time to lay your own course in the path of this dependable financial trade-wind? Isn't it time to let the power of steady 5% interest speed you, too, on your financial voyage?

GOVERNMENT IN STALEMATE

Our national government is in no condition to function. With the vote of November behind them; with a new administration to be inaugurated in two months; with important matters of decision, the officials are simply running around in circles. It is the worst condition that has ever developed at Washington in respect to governmental policy.

The first matter that arose, upon which there was a difference of opinion, was the attitude to be taken upon the foreign debt. Mr. Hoover suggested a commission, and asked for Mr. Roosevelt's co-operation. There are many ways that this could be taken up, other than by commission, and it may be possible that President-elect Roosevelt would favor some other method. But he was asked to co-operate on this method, and even in this case he says that he offered co-operation. Mr. Hoover says he did not.

With a grave necessity of raising additional revenue, a manufacturers' sales tax was looming as one of the most probable methods of accomplishing this end. It was announced that Roosevelt favored it. His mere expression of dismay at seeing this announcement ruined the chances for the sales tax to pass.

The failure of the repeal of the 18th amendment is laid by the "wets" to the votes of those who had already been defeated—in other words—to the "lame ducks." One proposed amendment, which provides that the newly elected Congressmen can take their places immediately, together with the newly-elected President, will entirely solve the problem that our national administration now confronts. For if the newly elected Congressmen were now in their places, we would have an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress, and with Mr. Roosevelt president, our government could function, and business and politics would be more stable.

The English Constitution, which provides for the very condition which our new Constitutional amendment will take care of, also excels ours in traditions and program of elections. We are disturbed for months by our form of campaign, our national conventions, the election of delegates, the adoption of platforms, and all the "hokey", and until the election is held, and even then we must continue in doubt for two months as to what is going to be done.

A WOMAN FOR THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET

The rumor will not down that Miss Frances Perkins, Industrial Commissioner of the state of New York, is to be the Secretary of Labor in the new cabinet of President Roosevelt. President Green of the American Federation of Labor is working for Daniel Tobin, one of the leaders in the Federation movement. He speaks highly of Miss Perkins, but believes that there is danger that the Department may become over-feminized if a woman is made Secretary. The mass of the workers are males, he asserts, and already there is a woman at the head of the Children's division, and another woman at the head of the Woman's division of the department. Therefore, a man should head the department.

Of course, President Green has a right to press his candidate upon the President-elect, but his reasons for presenting his candidate do not carry much weight. Miss Perkins is a woman of wide social experience; she is a card member of a labor union; her sympathies for every class represented in the work of the Labor department are known to all and appreciated by all. Women have political rights equal with men, and there is no good reason why a woman should not have a place in the immediate official family of the President. Margaret Bondfield was a member of the British cabinet in the two Labor governments, and she not only dignified the office, but exercised a wide influence in all that pertained to the Department's affairs.

The Secretary of Labor should be deeply sympathetic with the workers of the country and their status. The department was established to look after the interests of the worker, as the Department of Commerce exists to look after the interests of the business man, and the Department of Agriculture after the interests of the farmer. So far as we are able to discern, Miss Perkins would meet all the requirements of the position. The fact that she was appointed to her position in New York by Governor Smith and carried on by Governor Roosevelt gives her a preparation for the task that no Secretary before her has possessed.

Gone are the days of free suspenders with every suit. But, don't lose hope. It appears we'll soon get a free razor with every blade.

THINKING WEALTH IN LOS ANGELES

According to the city controller of Los Angeles, for the year ending June 30, 1932, there has been a bonded debt decrease in that city of some three million dollars, and the claim is made that the increase in value of property owned by the city was some eight million dollars.

There is no easier way of feeling rich than of writing additional values on real estate. But we are afraid, if it came to a sale, it would be something else again.

That Los Angeles reduced her bonded indebtedness during this period is worthy of comment. But as a matter of fact, it probably will be found that many cities have reduced their bonded indebtedness, because bonds have become due, and are being paid in many cities. And there are few cities which have increased their bonded indebtedness, except for the care of the unemployed.

A SORROW-BURDENED TOWN

The sympathy of the country has been stirred by the terrible disaster at Moweaqua, Illinois. The bodies of 40 miners have so far been recovered, and the glad Christmas time in the little town, was turned into a period of deep mourning. Fourteen more men are somewhere in the mine.

Few classes of workmen have suffered more in recent years than the miners of bituminous coal. With many more mines running than are needed; manned by thousands more men than are needed; with wages down below the cost of existence, suffering in various fields has been exceedingly great, strikes have been numerous, and appeals have been constant through many magazines for help.

And now this more than half hundred being wiped out by an explosion,—re-emphasizes the dangers, as well as the hardships, which these miners are forced to undergo. There are few kinds of work in which the income is more uncertain, and the earnings more precarious, than is that of the bituminous miners. While with modern machinery in most veins, a vastly larger amount can be brought to the surface with the same number of men, yet relatively the miner is not in as good condition as compared to the rest of the people, as he was twenty-five years ago.

PARIS BUYING UP ART

The flow of art is reversing itself. For years following the war impoverished Europe watched America drain the continent of its art treasures. Laws were passed in several countries to restrain the removal of some rare antiquities. Europeans were indignant at the despoilation of their art wealth. Now it appears that the art treasures are flowing back, at least they are flowing into France. A French company, has been formed, capitalized at more than a million dollars, with the purpose of buying back French art objects, paintings, furniture and sculpture and return them to Paris. M. Eduard Jonas, who is in charge of the fund, closed his New York gallery six months ago, because of lack of business. He says that there is a ready market for art objects in Paris. Thus the history of art objects increases by another chapter.

EXPENSIVE BUSINESS

According to the records, Alexander Pan-tages spent $252,095 in his defense against the assault charges preferred by Eunice Pringle. The facts were brought out by an action seeking a refund of taxes from the Collector of Internal Revenue.

This amount for defense in this trial was not allowed to be charged as expenses of the theater. This is a terrible sum to be used in establishing the innocence of an innocent man, if he were innocent.

Literature and Scenery

Christian Science Monitor

The London Times is running a series of photographs depicting scenes which are associated with English literature. A village that Thomas Hardy has given to the ages is pictured in its actual reality, and the reader of Hardy derives a new significance from comparing the spot with the imaginative scenes he already has stored away somewhere in the cranny of his memory.

The experience which he underwent in his reading is given a fresh value in being brought into relation with the actual scene which is described in the book, and the lover of literature derives a peculiar satisfaction from seeing his mental pictures set in contrast with the place which inspired the verbal delineation.

It is true that there are many places in Great Britain which are regularly visited for their literary associations. The Exmoor of R. D. Blackmore, the Dartmoor of Eden Phillpotts, the Shropshire of Mary Webb, and the Borderland of the Waverley Novels annually attract their pilgrims. Motor trips are organized to places where purely imaginary characters are supposed to have lived.

Hardy himself tells of enthusiastic readers who spent their vacations searching out remote villages which had no place in reality, but which he had made so vivid that readers actually found places which bore resemblance to the localities that existed only in the authors' fancy. Indeed, Hardy once spent many hours on a bicycle in an attempt to discover the hamlet of "Little Hintock," in "The Woodlanders," but admits that the quest ended in failure, although tourists had assured him positively that they had found the environment without trouble, and that it answered in every particular to the description given in the book.

The idea of linking actual scenes with the places which authors have pictured has been utilized on the films as well as in the press. "The Farmer's Wife" of Eden Phillpotts derives not a little of its charm from being "shot" in the Devonshire of which its author writes; and "The Mayor of Casterbridge" and "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" had their dramatic and pictorial qualities greatly enhanced by being filmed among the Dorset lanes and villages where these stories have their setting. In this regard the films might greatly expand their value. England is rich in territory that is linked with literature, and there are places of beauty and loveliness that would in turn enrich the films if they were utilized as settings for scenarios.

For Arms Embargo

Oakland Tribune

It will remain to be seen whether the United States, member of the neutral commission which has been seeking to settle the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay, will continue to sell those nations the guns and powder with which to carry on war.

President Hoover is asking for permission to declare an embargo on shipments of the kind. This country sells but a part of the munitions used in the Chaco battles; Europe supplies the rest. There will be some to argue that so long as the fighters will be able to get arms, we might as well profit, and there will be some to hold out for the higher view which would have a neutral refuse to be in any way a partner to Mars. Our leadership, followed by other nations, could stop that war in its tracks. So long as we continue to sell guns to both sides our diplomatic efforts to settle the dispute are made to appear insincere.

FATE AND FAVORITISM

When I was six, or thereabout,
The usual reply
When I, imbued with thoughts of food,
Besought a slab of pie,
Was, "No, it isn't good for you,
But you may have, instead,
A currant bun—now mind, just one—
Or else a slice of bread."
Sad recollection, like a ghost
Returns to haunt me yet;
The things I always wanted most
Were things I couldn't get.

When other children slid downhill
I usually was told,
"You'll have to stay indoors today,
The weather's bitter cold."
And when at last I was allowed
To take my sled and go,
I always found hard barren ground,
Or squally melting snow.
I had few boons—that I recall—
An aching heart to save;
I always wanted, most of all,
The things I couldn't have.

And now, though many are my years
Which used to be so few,
It doesn't seem my brightest dreams
Are never coming true.
Somehow I never can approve
The way the Fates behave;
Whatever luck I may have struck
Is not the luck I crave.
The cards seem seldom justly dealt
In this unending game,
But everybody else has felt,
I fancy, much the same.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

It's depressing to look at prison walls and think how many of the wrong people are shut outside. It doesn't take brains to make money. Look how much Jack the easy marks collect for swindlers. America should be proud of its political tolerance, anyway. No people could tolerate more. The higher-ups in the racket business just seem high because they are above the law. Criminal: A product of the theory that it is cheaper to hang the man than to train the boy.

THIS WILL BE REMEMBERED AS THE PERIOD WHEN GRADUATES STUCK TO SELLING MAGAZINES INSTEAD OF SWITCHING TO BONDS.

Now two children under 9 have been caught robbing a bank. The little darlings learn so much faster than children did in the old days. Things are worth more when they are scarce. And this, believe it or not, applies also to laws and banks. What a world! People starving to death to build armament to keep from getting killed.

AMERICANISM: Yowling about high taxes; supporting five complete governments and five tax-levying bodies in a radius of ten miles.

Lots of times we'd think the performer rotten if we didn't know that he gets $5000 a night. If only tree surgeons were authorized to trim family trees. If Mr. Ford hadn't one in his collection of American oddities, he might collect a poor man who was helped by some Federal relief measure.

THE FINAL PROOF OF A DOMINATING PERSONALITY IS TO HAVE AN EXTRA BEDROOM AND NO KIN FOLKS IN IT.

Tariff: A wicked tax on imports that should be removed from everything except articles that compete with you. Note to the wets: The reason the dries once got their way was because they knew what they wanted. A he-man is one who sprays his germs on 247 people because he is too brave to let a little cold lick him. If the worth of stocks in 1929 was imaginary, what this country really needs is something to make it imagine things.

Thoughts On Modern Life

A PARABLE FOR THE NATIONS

The scene is a Canadian wheat field. It was a vast carpet of mobile gold played upon by whistling winds and a glinting sun.

A father and mother, each holding a hand of their child two years old and not as tall as the waving grain, are walking across these acres of living gold, dreaming of days when the economic skies may brighten and this grain they yearly coax to harvest ripeness may be translated into new comforts for themselves and wider opportunities for their child.

An hour later, the mother suddenly asked, "Have you the baby's hand?"

"No," said the terrified father, "I thought you had it."

For twenty-four hours these panic-stricken parents searched in vain for their baby.

They raced back to the village for help. Half a hundred neighbors joined in the search. After twenty-four more hours of futile quest, one of the neighbors said, "Let's join hands and form a human comb and literally comb the field until we find the baby."

A few hours later, one of the men stumbled, and picked up the lifeless body of the lost baby. Finding no words with which to break the news, he put the dead baby in the father's arms.

With a cry of unearthly pathos, the father said, "My God, why didn't we join hands earlier?"

I wish the meaning of this poignant parable might sink into the minds of the members of the French Chamber of Deputies.

I wish it might penetrate all of the offices of state throughout Europe.

I wish its full significance might be grasped by every member of the Senate and House of Representatives as they consider the varied issues of American foreign policy—political and economic—in the four critical years just ahead.

Any statesmanship that does not play for an international joining of hands in the years just ahead may find a dead civilization in its arms.

INTELLIGENCE AND INFORMATION

There is a wide distance at times between information and intelligence. It is possible to know what to do and not be able to do it. In that situation the information isn't of much good. If it has to lie like so much lumber in the attic until intelligence can be harnessed to drive the matter into action.

Over and over again parents are astonished to discover that children with good school marks, high intelligence quotients, cannot get on in the ordinary affairs of life. "Why he can't take care of his things is a mystery to me. He isn't dumb. He simply can't hold on to his belongings. Start him out with a new ball outfit in the morning and by afternoon he hasn't a scrap. The other fellows own it. What's the matter?"

Maybe this child has been so busy learning lessons that he hasn't had time to learn the ways of the world. Maybe he is so formed that material things have little meaning to him and he will have to have that meaning burnt into him by experience. Maybe he hasn't an experiencing mind, which will mean that he will have to have a guardian all his life. Maybe he is just plain headless, a stage that experience soon assists into the past. Study the child and see why he does the things he does and try to piece out his weakness.

"My daughter Mary is an honor student but a complete failure when it comes to common sense. Yesterday she was studying her lessons and the baby on the floor beside her washed the rug and herself with ink and all she could do was cry, 'Oh, oh, the rug, the ink, the baby.' Never made an attempt to help. Why couldn't she see that the baby had taken her ink bottle? Why didn't she jump up and take it from him? She's like this all the time. No good for practical things. Should I take away her books? What ought I to do?"

Taking away her books won't help us. She is book-minded. The practical affairs of living have little meaning for her. Somebody has always carried them for her. No doubt her mother has said, "Never mind, Mary, you get your lessons done and I'll do that for you," until Mary accepted the idea that her share was the lesson, somebody else would provide clothes and food and shelter and comfort and peace. You can't blame her for that.

Try from the beginning to teach a child to hitch his information to service. Teach him, if you can, to help himself, then to lend a hand to someone else. Do your best to keep him from becoming lopsided in any respect. This requires time and attention and gives one considerable bother but the result will pay. We are too likely to think that what the child knows counts most. That is the mistake we make. It is what he can do with what he knows that counts most.
